UNTOLD MISERY
FROM RHEUMATISM
C. H. King, Water Valley, Miss., cured by Ayer's Sarsaparilla

"For five years, I suffered untold misery from muscular rheumatism. I tried every known remedy, consulted the best physicians, visited Hot Springs, Ark., three times, spending $1000 there, besides doctors' bills; but could obtain only temporary relief. My flesh was wasted away so that I weighed only ninety-three pounds; my left arm and leg were drawn out of shape, the muscles being twisted up in knots. I was unable to dress myself, except with assistance, and could only hobble about by using a cane. I had no appetite, and was assured, by the doctors, that I could not live. The pains, at times, were so awful, that I could procure relief only by means of hypodermic injections of morphine. I had my limbs bandaged in clay, in sulphur, in poultices; but these gave only temporary relief. After trying everything, and suffering the most awful tortures, I began to take Ayer's Sarsaparilla. Inside of two months, I was able to walk without a cane. In three months, my limbs began to strengthen, and in the course of a year, I was cured. My weight has increased to 165 pounds, and I am now able to do my full day's work as a railroad blacksmith."

CAPE COD ALBINOS.

A COLONY OF PINK EYED AND WHITE HAIRED PEOPLE.

It Is About 150 Years Old and at One Time It Numbered About Fifty Persons. The Story of the Pittsleys and Their Physical Peculiarities.

Since the appearance of albino girls in side shows and dime museums the general public has indulged in considerable speculation as to where the managers of these freak aggregations procure their frizzy haired specimens. Although seldom met with at other places, there is at Cape Cod a settlement of these pink eyed and white haired people. For generations the Pittsley family, known in the section as the "white haired Pittsleys," have been albino. They have intermarried, and, although clannish in the extreme, years ago took into the family fold a man named Reynolds, in whose children the peculiarity cropped out, and added the "white haired Reynolds" to the little army of Cape Cod's human curiosities. Until quite recently a dozen or 15 Pittsley albinos might have been found within half as many miles of each other and sometimes under the same roof. But the families in which there are albinos have scattered lately and spread over the most lonely parts of the country from Freetown to Wareham, at the entrance to Cape Cod.

The museum albino and the albino in real life have little in common. The albino at home is disappointing. His or her hair isn't crimped to the museum limit. It doesn't stand out a la Circassian. In the natural Pittsley state the albino hair is dingy, because they don't know any better, and if they did they probably wouldn't adopt the modern methods of washing hair.

The eyes of the albino in this region prove their albinism beyond question. They are usually described as pink, like rabbits' eyes. They are extremely weak and almost closed, so that it is difficult to get a square look into the eye itself. When the eye is opened, the lid is lifted only for a second, and it takes a quick look to discover that the pupil is dark red and surrounded with a lighter red ring, while the ball of the eye is pale pink and surrounded with the pinkish rim of the eyelid. The effect would be thoroughly pink if the eye remained at rest. It is almost impossible to obtain a direct look into the eye, because from the eye of the healthy albino red lights seem to dart, while the pupil quivers and dilates and seems to move unceasingly.

It is over a century and a half since the appearance of the first albino was recorded in the Pittsley tribe. Since that time probably more than 100 have been born bearing this name or having mothers from this family. At one time it is estimated that only a few less than 50 albinos were living within a radius of 25 miles. Barnum might here have held an albino congress if he had been able to engage all of these people with the wonderful wine red pupils. It has always been among the legends of the county that the great showman did recruit his collection from this locality, but today the proud Pittsleys deny indignantly that Barnum ever had money enough to engage even one of them to pose in public.

The origin of the family is connected with one of the wickedest episodes of the early history of the new world. There is even a chance that perhaps some Pittsley was a relative or friend of the sweet and pious Evangeline. When the English deported from the vales of Acadia the families of French neutrals and scattered them in almost every settlement from the mouth of the Penobscot around to Louisiana, Freetown, which was near the colony of Plymouth, had not been able to send its full quota of men to the army. So in the distribution of the French from Acadia 15 men, with some women and children, were left in Freetown. The bitterest of all was the separation and splitting up of families. The people were filled with dejection, and the poorest of them apparently built some rude lodges in the forests and took no care how they lived. None spoke their language. They were strangers in habits and manners. Men had been separated from wives and daughters, and wives left without their husbands.

Just what the name of the French neutral ancestor of the albino Pittsleys may have been no research has ever revealed. On the town records, until within 50 years, the name has been Piggsley. In many cases the name Piggsley has been corrupted into "Hoggsley."

The first appearance of pink eyes and white hair was in a Robert Pittsley somewhere in the first half of the eighteenth century. Some place it as early as 1731. From that time down the albino characteristics have been continually reproduced. It is believed that continual intermarriage has been largely instrumental in handing down the pink eyes and white hair. The Pittsleys were clannish. They wouldn't mingle with other families, much less take wives from them. They clubbed by themselves, but oftener one family made a home for itself in some deserted house or jucket house in a lonely part of the woods or out of the way end of a township. They rarely came to town to live. In their ways and their love of outdoor life those people show many of the characteristics of the gypsy, and another point which allies them to the wandering clans is their ability to "swap" horses, a business at which most all of the males are experts. They are illiterate and account for their physical peculiarities by the theory that one of their ancestors had his hair turn white after a fright and bequeathed his curious hirsute possession to his children.—Philadelphia Times.

We love music for the buried hopes, the garnered memories, the tender feelings it can summon at a touch.—L. E. Landon.

Weight of Our Atmosphere.

It has been roughly calculated that the weight of our atmosphere is about one ton to every square foot of the earth's surface; 25,000,000 tons per square mile, or 5,000,000,000,000,000 tons on the total of 200,000,000 square miles which go to make the total of the earth's area. Again, according to the estimates of the authority for the above, a cubic mile of air weighs about 10,000,000,000 pounds. This mass when electrified, or put in motion by other forces, develops cyclonic power equal to 4,000,000,000,000 "foot tons" of energy. If you wish to know why the tornado (cyclone) is usually so destructive, figure on the fact that the force of such storms is generally equivalent to more than 2,000,000,000,000,000 horsepower! The total horsepower of all the engines now working in the world is only 49,000,000, and of all those in America, both locomotives and stationary engines, only 7,500,000. Compare 7,500,000 with 2,000,000,000,000,000 and see how insignificant it looks! Is it any wonder that the cyclone, "the rushing demon of the air," leaves ruin and destruction in its path?—St. Louis Republic.

Poetry and Music.

It must be remembered that song is a combination of two arts, in which each must exercise its own function and must respect the office of the other. In the ideal lyric, such as those of Heine and Schumann, the poet draws an outline which the musician colors, and where they are in perfect sympathy there will be perfect unity of result. But if the one goes on to complete the picture, if he prescribes every nuance and every detail, there is no collaboration possible, for nothing is left to the other but complete subservience. There will never be an adequate setting of the "Bugle Song" in "The Princess," not because the verse is too musical, for such a plea is a contradiction in terms, but because the poem is too full. What is the composer to do with such a consummate line as:

Blow, bugle; answer, echoes, dying, dying, dying—?

Shall he follow the suggestion of the words? He is but echoing the echoes. Shall he disregard it? He has missed the poet's meaning. The whole field has been occupied already, and if he claim a share of the tillage he must take station as a serf.—Macmillan's Magazine.

An Effective Lie.

A young French advocate in the course of his address to the court flourished about his hand in such a manner as to show off a magnificent diamond ring. He was young, good looking and was pleading for a lady of quality who demanded a separation from her husband. The husband, who happened to be present, interrupted him in the middle of a period and turning to the judges exclaimed theatrically, "My lords, you will appreciate the zeal which M. X—— is displaying against me and the sincerity of his argument when you are informed that the diamond ring he wears is the very one that I placed on my wife's finger on the day of that union he is so anxious to dissolve!" The court was struck with astonishment and rose immediately. The cause was lost, and the advocate never had another. To add to the poignancy of the catastrophe, the husband's insinuation had no foundation whatever in fact.—San Francisco Argonaut.

Combination Wouldn't Work.

Willie Garvin was always a good fellow, and in due course of time he got married, as a good fellow should.

He acquired his growth long ago, not so with his family. Whenever he makes his census returns, he changes the figures. Up to a year ago he had accumulated "one little, two little, three little Garvins"—three beautiful, blooming sons. Each time without exception it was a boy.

Being a schoolteacher and not wishing to get rusty in his addition, multiplication, etc, he occasionally adds one to the list.

The last addition came recently. A friend at once telegraphed: "Call him Lazarus on Scriptural authority. The Lord said, 'Lazarus, come forth.'"

The answer went back: "Suggestion good, but combination won't work. The fourth boy is a girl."—Boston Budget.

Politeness No Use.

The apologists of the Spanish admiral who fired shot at the Carrie A. Lane, hauled her to and boarded her, tell us: "The Spanish officers were very polite and made but a slight examination." It reminds one of the Irishman and the bull. The bull chased him across the field, and just as Pat reached the fence he horned and tossed him, and Pat luckily alighted on the other side. The bull pawed the earth and bellowed. Pat looked at him and remarked, "Yes, be jabers, you're very perlite, bowin and scrapin and 'pologizin, but you did it a purpose, and you know it, you old brute!"—Chicago Inter Ocean.

Due to Imagination.

Some writers of sea songs were poor sailors. "I'm on the Sea! I'm on the Sea!" wrote Barry Cornwall as if life on the ocean wave were a joy. But it was his imagination that wrote the song, for he was the sickest of sailors and detested the sea.

"I had it from Mrs. Proctor," says Santley, the singer, "who told me that she used to tease him, humming a strain of his jovial sea song as he lay, a very log, huddled in shawls and a tarpaulin, crossing the channel, with barely sufficient animation left to utter, 'My dear, don't!'"

No place is tunneled so much as the rock of Gibraltar, where there are upward of 70 miles of underground passages.

When a man has not a good reason for doing a thing, he has one good reason for letting it alone.—Thomas Scott.

Epping forest is the largest public recreation ground in the world.

A Dinner at Solon Chase's.

D. A. Boyle of Bedford tells the following: "I remember once when Senators Frye, Hale, John D. Long of Massachusetts, Delamater of Illinois and several others were at Turner fishing and called on Uncle Solon Chase. Hale, by the way, used to go to school to Chase somewhere in that neighborhood, and Long, I think, was born down there. Well, they all happened to call on Chase that day, and he invited them to his house for dinner. He had a housekeeper whom we all called the hired girl. She was a strange old soul and subject to 'tantrums,' Chase called them.

"Of course she managed to have a 'tantrum' on this particular day, and when Chase got his company down to the house the girl refused to get dinner, and the only things eatable in the house were baked beans and blueberries. But that didn't bother Solon very long. We set the blueberries and the beans on the table, and then Chase made a little speech of welcome, winding up by saying, 'Gentlemen, I guess what's good enough for me is good enough for you. Let's eat.' They did eat and had fun enough over that meal to make it digest well, you bet!"—Lewiston Journal.

A Feline Mourner.

I had a little dog, a Skye terrier, and some time after he came to my house a wandering cat was added to the establishment. He was very kind to "Bessie," as we called our new inmate, and watched over her with great care, never allowing her to go out by the front door, but pushing her gently in when she attempted it, but they had many a romp together in the back garden. My dog died at the good old age of 13, and the cat mourned him like a human being, losing all her liveliness and moping about the house.

About a year after the dog's death I desired the gardener to put turf over his grave, as the house was let, and I feared strangers might dig there. To do this he began to level the earth over the grave and whenever the cat saw him digging there she got into a most excited state, frisking about in the wildest spirits, evidently expecting that her kind companion was to be restored to her. Her disappointment when he never appeared was trying to witness, and she has been a "sadder and a wiser" cat ever since, doing her duty faithfully by the mice, but apparently expecting little pleasure in life.—London Spectator.

Bicycle Superstitions.

Folks open to the influence of signs, omens, etc., should read the following list of bicycle superstitions, compiled by the Minneapolis Journal: "1. The wheelman who allows a hearse to pass him will die before the year is out. 2. To be chased by a yellow dog with one blue eye and one black eye indicates a bad fall. 3. To see a small boy with a slung shot beside the road is a prophecy of a puncture. 4. If you pass a white horse driven by a redhaired lady, your rim will split unless you say 'cajandrum' and hold up two fingers. 5. The rider who expectorates tobacco juice on the track will lose a spoke. 6. If you take your machine to the repair shop, it is a sign that you will not buy that new suit of clothes. 7. Kicking the man who asks the make of your wheel is a sign of high honors and riches within a year. 8. Lending the wheel is the sign of the double donkey. 9. To attempt to hold up a 275 pound woman learning to ride is the sign of a soft spot."

Polyglot Signs.

The array of signs rendered necessary where people of various nationalities congregate often confuses one not familiar with the foreign languages, especially when the person is not aware that they all mean the same thing. On a door leading into one of the local sugar refineries are the following inscriptions:

"No Admittance."
"Der Eintritt ist Verboten."
"Verbodner Ginzang."
"Nie Wchodzic."

There is still another collection on board the Red Star line steamships sailing to Antwerp. There is of course no smoking except on deck, and each stateroom is provided with the following signs:

"No Smoking."
"Niet Rooken."
"Defense de Fumage."
"Nicht Rauchen."—Philadelphia Record.

No Cause For Alarm.

He (gently)—Are you not afraid some one may marry your money?

She (sweetly)—Oh, dear, no! Such an idea never entered my head.

He (tenderly)—Ah, in your sweet innocence you do not know how coldly mercenary some men are.

She (quietly)—Perhaps not.

He (with suppressed emotion)—I would not for the world have such a terrible fate happen to you. The man who wins you should love you for yourself alone.

She—He'll have to. It's my cousin Jennie who has the money, not I. You've made some mistake. I haven't a penny.

He—Er—very pleasant weather we're having.—Boston Globe.

Spotted Cigars.

There is a tradition among cigar smokers, which finds more or less credence, to the effect that spotted cigars are the best. To meet the demand for spotted goods some manufacturers use diluted sulphuric acid, which, being liberally sprinkled on the tobacco to be used for wrappers, gives the desired speckled appearance. In justification of this practice the manufacturers say it doesn't hurt the cigar at all and it pleases some smokers.—New York World.

In the Future.

Mrs. De Fashion (about leaving the children's party)—Marie!

Nursegirl—Yes, ma'am.

Mrs. De Fashion—It's time for us to go home. Which of these children is mine?—Philadelphia Telegraph.

"PLAYING THE RACES."

THE evil effects of gambling have again been made manifest the past week in the metropolis, and the passion for "playing the races" has gained two more victims—one of whom has become hopelessly insane and the other is a fugitive from justice as a defaulter. Adolph Bauer, well-known in the musical circles of the metropolis and the leader of an orchestra in one of the principal theatres of San Francisco, is a mental wreck. Bauer was an artist of unusual merit and was on the high road to prosperity and fame. In an evil moment he visited the Bay District race track and became infatuated on "playing the races." The result was in playing some other fellow's game he lost his money. This preyed on his mind and to-day the once bright musical genius is a mental wreck and he has been placed in a mad house, and never more will the sweet sounds of his violin greet the ears of the thousands who in times past have listened with rapture to his playing on that other musical instruments.

The other victim of the gambling habit is Wm. Wittland, late paying and receiving teller of the Grangers' Bank. Wittland was a young man with a bright career before him. A first-class accountant and enjoying the confidence and esteem of his employers and friends there was no reason in the years to come, had he been honest and economical, why he should not have reached the Presidency of a bank. But he fell by the way. He visited the race track "played the races," and lost. It is the old, old story. In order to make up his first loss he purloined the bank's funds and endeavored to retrive his fortune with money that did not belong to him. Again losing he was unable to replace the money he had surreptitiously taken from the bank's trays and he awoke to the realization that he was a thief. Driven desperate by the thought, he kept on stealing from the bank and "playing the races," until his peculations had reached the sum of $11,875. He then fled, leaving behind a disgraced wife and child and a damaged reputation that is beyond repair, and he will be lucky indeed if he is not captured and landed in the State's prison.

These cases are only a few of many that are recorded almost daily in the newspapers of the downfall of men who have become victims to gambling. It is one of the very worst evils that can befall a young man. By indulging in the habit he has everything to loose and nothing to gain. Money won at the gaming table or on the race track, should he be for tunate enough to win, will do him no good in the end. Money secured on games of chance comes easy and goes easy as well. No young man ever got a start in life in the Louisiana lottery, on the race track or at the gaming table. On the contrary, there are thousands who have endeavored to "raise the wind" by chance who have been consigned to the mad house or penitentiary or have went down to a suicide's grave.

The moral of this young man is: If you want to get a start in life and become a respected and useful member of society, learn a good trade or adopt one of the professions, save your money, let gambling and the other vices severely alone, and—there you are.

IN the Kansas State Prison there are 643 convicts, of whom twelve only are women. Thus it seems that women are far from being on an equal footing with men, even in so progressive a State as Kansas.

Ex-Governor Foraker of Ohio has been chosen United States Senator by the Legislature of that State.

GOVERNOR BUDD is said to be occupying his time with experiments on a gas engine which he is inventing.

Might Does Not Always Make Right.

As an illustration of the truthfulness of the above statement the trial of Leckemann vs. Steiger proves that the injured and the innocent are often denied their rights in our courts of law, while the wrong-doer and the guilty go unpunished.

In 1894 I rented a piece of land with a small house upon it from Mr. E. Steiger. While I was absent from home doing some work for a neighbor he came to the house and after ascertaining that my wife was alone demanded his rent, it not yet being due.

Failing to receive it, he began abusing her by calling her vile names. She ordered him to leave the place, whereupon he entered the yard, assaulted her and dragged her by the hair to an old well, which, fortunately for her, had been covered without his knowledge. Being in a delicate condition she received injuries, confining her to her bed for several days and requiring medical assistance.

For the outrage he was arrested. He was tried in the Justice's Court of Sonoma City before a jury of his townsmen, who were well acquainted with him. They, after hearing the evidence, found him guilty as charged by my wife. He was fined $40.

A civil suit for damages was then instituted by my wife and myself for the insult and injuries inflicted upon her, but, strange to relate, the damage suit was rendered against my wife and myself and in favor of Steiger.

My wife and I endeavor to be quiet and peaceable citizens, but it appears that this is not taken into consideration in the administration of justice. Can the same be said of Mr. Steiger, who has been engaged in constant warfare and litigation with his neighbors for years?

Feeling the injustice done to my wife and myself and being poor people having no other redress we have taken this means for justifying ourselves for instituting a civil suit for the wrongs done to us by Mr. Steiger.

RICHARD LECKEMANN.
MRS. RICHARD LECKEMANN.

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease, and prescribed local remedies, and by constant failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven catarrh to be a constitutional disease and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials. Address.

COUNTY NEWS.

GLEANED DURING THE PAST WEEK.

Santa Rosa is to have an ice plant with a capacity of five tons a day.

The Supervisors are engaged in drawing 500 trial jurors for the ensuing year.

The Trenton robbers, captured in Petaluma by Marshal Collins, have confessed to being guilty.

The State apportionment of school money for Sonoma was made on a basis of 9,225 children; amount per child, $6.15; total, $56,753.75.

J. C. Sims and D. E. McKinlay of Santa Rosa have been appointed by the Mayor of that city as delegates to attend the convention which meets in San Francisco to take action against the funding of the debts of the Pacific railroads.

Petaluma is to have no picnics this season as Glen Ellen has secured the exclusive privilege from the Donahue railroad company. In consequence there is a big kick against the railroad people by many residents of the hen town.

J. W. Rose, the Healdsburg man recently shot in that town by B. K. Truitt, is recovering, and the people there are looking for another duel as soon as he appears on the street.

Local Brevities.

W. P. Edwards has entered upon his duties as Secretary at the Home for Feeble Minded.

If you want the very best of wine, liquors or cigars go to the Sonoma House, and you will be politely served by Mr. Chas. Stein *

Hall's Hair Renewer contains the natural food and color-matter for the hair, and medicinal herbs for the scalp, curing grayness, baldness, dandruff, and scalp sores.

The little boy of Mr. and Mrs. Nick Fowler, formerly of this place but now of Occidental, accidentally swallowed a toy whistle, last Sunday, which lodged in the throat and before the arrival of surgical assistance the child choked to death.

Under the new game law it is unlawful to offer for sale ducks and quail after January 15th. The shooting season, however, will remain open until March 15th. From now on one can give his game away but cannot sell it.

An advertising Sacramento merchant writes in the Bee: "I notice one thing—that those who advertise the best get the most trade and are prospering. The firms that are at a standstill or retrograding, are the ones who depend upon their personal influence for trade and ignore the advertising columns of their local newspaper."

The civil suit of Jacobson vs. Marcucci, which was tried in Justice Cheney's Court last Saturday, was decided in favor of the defendant. Mr. Jacobson, who had been working for Mr. Marcucci for the past few months and was to receive his board and lodging in payment, upon leaving demanded $5 from Mr. Marcucci, which was refused. He then instituted a civil suit for $13.50, with the above result.

Items from Glen Ellen.

Rain! rain! rain!

R. W. Lemme and son of St. Helena were in town this week.

Geo. Beatty and Judge and Mrs. Gibson spent Wednesday in the city.

The rainy weather has affected Dr. Hunter's gout and makes him quite lame.

August Martens has assumed the business of his father, the late J. H. P. Martens.

Julius Martens of Hilton was down attending the funeral services of his father last Tuesday.

A. T. Gee, Wells, Fargo & Co's messenger, left last Wednesday without his breakfast. He was brought back, however, on the noon train.

The Glen Ellen police force is coming to the front and Chief Fred. Parker in his new uniform is the principal attraction in this town at present.

J. D. Bosch and W. Bell of Windsor are here taking down the machinery of the Kohler winery and are shipping part of it to the city and the balance to Windsor.

J. H. P. Martens quietly passed away at his home here last Sunday morning. The funeral services, which were held from his late residence at 10 o'clock Tuesday, January 14th, were led by Rev. Chase of Sonoma.

WHISKERS.

Glen Ellen, January, 16th, 1896.

DEATH OF MRS. B. F. KING.

She Expires at Los Gatos After a Lingering Illness.

Mrs. B. F. King, formerly of this place, and mother of Dr. J. J. King, died at her home in Los Gatos on Tuesday of last week after a painful illness of sixteen months. Mrs. King bore her sufferings, which were intense at times, with true Christian fortitude. Thirty hours before she passed away she was free from pain. She was conscious to the last and just before closing her eyes in that sleep that knows no waking bade her relatives and friends a final adieu.

Mrs. King was a resident of Sonoma for several years and while here her kind and gentle manners and motherly ways endeared her to everybody with whom she was thrown in contact. Dr. King has the sympathy of a host of friends in this valley over his loss, as he was remarkably attached to his mother.

THE STORM.

A Precipitation of 4.13 Inches the Past Week—Dairymen and Farmers are Smiling Again.

The gentle rain which set in last Monday and Tuesday culminated in an old-fashioned storm on Wednesday, Thursday and Friday. On the two latter days the precipitation was 3.10 inches and for the storm 4.13 inches. The ground has been thoroughly soaked, and the valley and surrounding hills are putting on a thick mantle of green. The long, dry and frosty spell the past few months had retarded the growth of vegetation and in consequence feed was short and our dairymen and farmers had to feed their stock hay, something unusual in this valley at this season of the year. The rain that has just fallen, however, will ensure plenty of pasture from now on.

The available hay and grain land in Sonoma Valley for the most part has been seeded and the precipitation the past week assures an abundant harvest the coming season.

The Graves Estate.

William Alvord, President of the California bank, has rendered final account and received his discharge, as executor, in the matter of the estate of William Graves, who died on his farm near this place about two years ago. Graves left an estate valued at $300,000. Of this sum the heirs received $150,000, the remaining $150,000 being applied to the payment of bills and outside legacies.

Rainfall for the Season.

Robt. Hall, local U. S. Signal Observer, reports the rainfall for the present storm as follows:

Date	Inches
January 13 and 14	.60
" 15	.43
" 16	1.70
" 17	1.40
Total for the storm	4.13

This added to the previous rainfalls makes the precipitition for the season, ending at 4 o'clock yesterday, 10.65 inches.

The Rival Blacksmiths.

In the little town of Glen Ellen,
In the village smithy s stand;
The smith a mighty trouble has he
To lift from off his hands;
For a rival across the bridge
Operations has began.

His joy and expectation has been long
As it possibly can;
And his days of happiness are marred
By the arrival of another smithy man,
Who appeals for a share of the trade,
And Turley thinks d—n.

Week in, week out, from morn till night,
For a year or more, you know,
Mike has had his own way,
And managed to lay very low;
But the way he now gets around
Is very far from slow,

And people from the mountains
Look in at the open door,
And see Turley at the forge
With leather apron tore;
And a look in his eye that means
He wants somebody's gore.

His competitor a sign did raise,
Which has met the peoples eyes,
And made Mike fear
His income would diminish in size;
"Geo. Towle, Plain Shoeing one dollar"
Read the sign in this wise.

That's all right, thought Mike,
As far as it goes,
But when it comes to "cutting"
We'll see who gets "froze"
And "Fancy Shoeing fifty cents" says he,
"If I have to go without clothes."

And when it comes to sign work,
On the original plan wrought,
I'll make Towle with envy burn,
And by the same means, which he sought
I'll keep the trade of Glen Ellen
In the channel where it ought.

FORECLOSURE SUIT.

The Lands of the Kenwood Land Company Behind the Mortgage.

Papers in one of the largest fore closure suits ever brought in Sonoma county were filed Saturday by D. R. Gale. The plaintiff is Mrs. G. Gianella and she has sued D. M. Carman and thirty-eight other defendants to recover $55,600 loaned on a mortgage secured by 2,680 acres of land in Los Guilicos valley. The mortgage was executed in December, 1891, in three notes. Two of these notes have been taken up. They were $4,500 and $5,000 each. The third note of $55,000 has been decreased by a small payment, leaving some $51,000 still due. The mortgage drew six per cent interest and over $5,450 has been paid as interest.

In addition to the principal, the complaint asks for interest compounded semi-annually which of itself foots up a good sum.—Santa Rosa Republican.

That High School Building.

MR. EDITOR:

In the last issue of your paper the President of the Board of High School Trustees recommends the purchase by the tax-payers of the old College building. He says the building can be purchased for $1,800 and can be repaired for a few hundred dollars more. Now, Mr. Editor, might it not cost from $800 to $1,000 more? How many hundreds of dollars a year will it cost to keep it up in future? How many hundreds of dollars have been spent on the old building for repairs the short time it has been used for a High School? Do you think the taxpayers should buy about three times as much property as they have any need for? Don't you think it would be cheaper in the long run to put up a new building? The President of the High School says a new building would cost at least $5,000. An ample building can be built for from $2,000 to $2,500. Ask your builders here. The scholars don't need a 40-acre field to play in. Neither do they need a castle to study in. The Trustees know as well as I do that a scholar can be educated in a $2,000 building as well as he can in a $5,000 building. The President says no one has offered to assist or encourage the Trustees in putting up a new building and that is the reason he recommends the purchase of the College building. Have they asked for any assistance? Why did they not put the proposition before the people whether they wanted a new building or the old one? Was the occasion as pressing to others to offer assistance as it was to those who would like to see the College property sold to the taxpayers here? The President says no one has donated a lot. If I mistake not there are taxpayers here in this district who thirty years ago donated towards that College property. Why should they donate now or be taxed to purchase it? Mr. Editor, my vote will be: TAX, No! on this proposition.

TAXPAYER.

J. H. P. Martens Passes Away.

One by one the old residents of Sonoma Valley are passing away. Last month we recorded the death of J. C. Seipp, a pioneer of Sonoma. This week it is our painful duty to announce the taking off of J. H. P. Martens. He died very suddenly at his home in Glen Ellen last Sunday morning of asthma. The deceased had resided in this valley for many years. He leaves a wife and six grown children, three sons and three daughters, Mrs. Chas. J. Poppe being one of the latter. The other children are Misses Eliza and Malvina Martens and Julius, August and Henry Martens. The deceased was a native of Honover, Germany, where he was born 62 years ago. The funeral took place Tuesday and was largely attended, the remains being interred in Mountain Cemetery in this place.

Cemetery Work.

Wm. Trudgen of this place is still prepared to contract for all kinds of cemetery work. Monuments and coping a specialty. Specimens of his work can be seen in Mountain Cemetery in the lots of Mrs. Goodwin, Messrs. Rufus and Leiding and the public receiving vault.

SONOMA INDEX - TRIBUNE.

SONOMA, SATURDAY, JAN. 18, 1896.

MAY BE SINGING FISHES.

A Phenomenon of the Sea Which Is Interesting and Mysterious.

Here is an account of a phenomenon of the Pascagoula river in Mississippi, to which, although it is not generally known, the attention of naturalists has been called on account of its mystery. At times very remarkable sounds are heard at the mouth of this river. The local fishermen say that it is "the spirits singing under the water." It is a murmuring sound, which rises gradually and then falls to a lower tone. The music ceases when the waters are disturbed, and when they are quiet it begins again.

Several explanations have been offered as to the origin and cause of the mysterious sounds of the Pascagoula. The most satisfactory theory is that the sounds are produced by a species of fish in some unknown way. Professor G. Brown Goode, who is an authority on fishes and fish life, thinks that the drumfish may cause the sounds in question.

Instances of peculiar sounds being heard at sea and ascribed to fishes are not uncommon, as the following examples will show:

In 1824, when Lieutenant White of the American navy was at the mouth of a river in Cambodia, he and his crew were surprised by unusual sounds. He described the noises as a mixture of the bass of an organ, the ringing of bells, the guttural cries of a large frog and the tones of an immense harp. The natives said that the sounds were produced by a school of a certain kind of fish.

Dr. Buist, 1847, reported that a party of people in a boat on the waters near Bombay heard strange sounds, which the natives held to be caused by fish. The well known English traveler, Sir J. Emerson Tennent, heard similar sounds from the lake of Batticaloa in Ceylon, and here again the natives claimed that fishes made the sounds. Several correspondents of newspapers have reported having heard sounds which were produced by fishes. One writer in the London Field, 1867, avers that in the harbor at Greytown, Nicaragua, he was haunted at night by these mysterious sounds. Another in the same paper tells of musical sounds which he heard in the Tavoy river. Other instances of more recent date might be mentioned.

From all the accounts given we may draw some interesting conclusions. Thus it seems that the sounds are almost always heard on shipboard, though Charles Kingsley once heard them at Trinidad from the shore; that they are usually heard in tropical regions; that they are more often heard at night than at any other time; that they are commonly heard at the mouth of rivers, as at the mouth of the Pascagoula, and that they have been reported from far distant places in America, Europe and Asia.—Our Animal Friends.

Praises the Bicycle.

It seems to be coming—scientific approval—in all directions. Dr. Champonière, member of the Academy of Medicine, has made observations on Frenchwomen who have used the wheel, and he finds they are better performers than men, learning more easily and with less purposeless expenditure of force. He finds a marked increase in the amount of muscle developed all over the trunk of the body, especially about the torso. The lung capacity is increased, full, healthy action of the heart is restored and the deposition of fat is avoided. The doctor asserts that he can detect infallibly the woman who uses the wheel from her sisters when they cross the streets. One proceeds with self confidence and ease when the other dodges and invites disaster. He then examines the mental discipline afforded by the bicycle, and thence deduces his most striking conclusio He finds that the woman's powers of attention and observation are awakened in an extraordinary degree, or rather that these powers, with which all human beings are endowed at birth, are saved from atrophy, which in both sexes is one of the most marked defects produced by civilization. The wheelwomen move with something of the freedom and dignity observed in some of the higher uncivilized races. The doctor disclaims any intention to theorize, but at the close of his article permits himself to dream of a new Frenchwoman as the product of the bicycle.

An Old Soldier's Recommendation.

In the late war I was a soldier in the First Maryland Volunteers, Company G. During my term of service I contracted chronic diarrhoea. Since then I have used a great amount of medicine, but when I found any that would give me relief it would injure my stomach, until Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhœa Remedy was brought to my notice. I used it and will say it is the only remedy that gave me permanent relief and no bad results follow. I take pleasure in recommending this preparation to all of my old comrades, who, while giving their services to their country, contracted this dreadful disease as I did, from eating unwholesome and uncooked food. Yours truly, A. E. BENDING, Halsey, Oregon. For sale by all dealers.

E. W. JOY COMPANY—Gentlemen: I have suffered from kidney trouble for two or three years. I would have to get up in the night to void my urine from ten to fifteen times. Have to get up about three times during night, and am very much better in every respect. Will continue to take your Vegetable Sarsaparilla, for believe it will entirely cure me.

Pigeon Roosts Fifty Years Ago.

Pigeon Roost, Scott county, Ind., received its name from its being the nightly rendezvous of the passenger or wild pigeon. These pigeons usually selected some heavily wooded or elevated locality for their roosting, bordering on their feeding grounds, which might be several hundred miles in extent. The pigeons usually commenced to arrive before sunset and continued in increasing numbers until after midnight. At daybreak the birds would begin to leave the roost, and on swift wing depart for their feeding grounds, miles away, returning at night, as stated. It may safely be said that these birds ranged the forests of Indiana from the Wabash to the Ohio, and extending far into Kentucky. So large were their roosts that they became localities of great interest. None was more famous than the one in Finley township, Scott county, Ind.; hence the name of the settlement early established there—the Pigeon Roost.—Cincinnati Commercial Gazette.

Drop Forgings.

The machinery for drop forging is ponderous and expensive. The plates that stamp out the forgings are in two sections, one of which fits into the bed of the machine, and the other is fastened to the arm. Together these two plates have an opening the shape of the desired forging. The descent of the arm on a piece of tool steel stamps out a piece of the requisite shape. After leaving the forging machine the metal is in a rough state and has to be turned down on a lathe and bored out, each of which operations has to be carefully done, as the finished article has to be exact in every particular.—Chicago Times-Herald.

Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is famous for its cures of bad colds. It opens the secretions, relieves the lungs and aids nature in restoring the system to a healthy condition. If freely used as soon as the cold has been contracted, and before it has become settled in the system, it greatly lessens the severity of the attack and has often cured in a single day what would have been a severe cold. For sale by all dealers.

MESSRS. LIPPMAN BROS., Savannah, Ga.: Gentlemen—I have tried your P. P. P. for a disease of the skin, usually known as skin cancer, of thirty years' standing, and found great relief; it purifies the blood and removes all irritation from the seat of the disease and prevents any spreading of the sores. I have taken five or six bottles and feel confident that another course will effect a cure. It has also relieved me from indigestion and stomach troubles. Yours truly,
CAPT. W. M. RUST,
Attorney at Law.
